STATEMENT

My background consists mainly of a fine arts education. While at RISD I focused on drawing, painting, and sculpture. Since graduating, I have applied what I learned and have applied it to video editing and animation. Through this, I have been able to combine my interest in story telling with my love of drawing. I believe that my illustration background has taught me how to edit my projects so they come across in a creative, clear, and effective manner. I am always looking for off-site freelance opportunities. I am also interested in working with other artists to create installations and other fine art driven projects.
